TPA elects new board members, officers

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (Aug. 24, 2011) — Dan Nuckolls of Koch Foods is the new president of the board of directors of the Tennessee Poultry Association. Officers were elected during the organization's annual meeting on Aug. 12 in Nashville, Tenn.

Serving a two-year term on the executive committee with Nuckolls are Scott Black, Cobb-Vantress, first vice president; Chynette Bandy, second vice president, Equity Group – Kentucky Division; and Jay Daniels, Hubbard, secretary-treasurer. Wally Taylor, Tyson Inc. of Shelbyville, is the immediate past president.

Results of member voting for the board of directors were also revealed at the meeting. Dwight Curl, Marel Stork Poultry Processing, and Kevin McBride, Alltech, join the governing body as allied representatives. Todd Jewell and Dewey Swindle, grower representatives, were reelected to their posts. Corporate representatives reelected to serve on the board include Andrew Blair, Tyson Inc. of Obion County, as well as Daniels, Bandy, Black and Taylor.
